

I am writing in response to the weakening of the Indiana Privacy Act. I enjoy not having sales calls to my home at every possible hour of the day or night. I like the peace that this Act has allowed my family to enjoy. I like not being interrupted as I am trying to eat dinner with my family or trying to put my children to bed. Please allow the Act to stand as it is currently written. I believe that we are bombarded with enough advertisements on the television, radio, and though print ads. At least I can ignore or turn off these if I choose to. I cannot and should not have to turn off my phone to avoid being sold something over the phone. Thank you.

Jamesi Lemon